Ahmad Saud

Homework Activity: Types of Questions in English

Instructions

- Read each question carefully.
- For fill-in-the-blank questions, write the correct question form.
- For multiple choice questions, circle or write the correct answer.
- For sentence transformation questions, rewrite the sentence as instructed.

F

Fill in the Blank (1-8)
1. Complete the question ending with a preposition: Who are you waiting ?
<ul> <li>Write a subject question for this statement:</li> <li>Someone called me last night.</li> <li>→ called you last night?</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>3. Form a question with a negative auxiliary verb:</li> <li>You like chocolate.</li> <li>→ don't you like chocolate?</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>4. Change this direct question into an indirect question:</li> <li>Where is the nearest bank?</li> <li>→ Can you tell me wher the newest bank is ?</li> </ul>
5. Complete the question ending with a preposition: What are they talking about ?
<ul> <li>6. Write a subject question for this statement:</li> <li>Something made a loud noise.</li> <li>→ who made a loud noise?</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>7. Form a question with a negative auxiliary verb:</li> <li>She is coming to the party.</li> <li>→ she coming to the party?</li> </ul>
8. Change this direct question into an indirect question: When does the train arrive?  → Do you know when the train is arrive?

Multiple Choice (9-15)

1. Which question ends with a preposition?
1. Who did you meet?
■ Who did you meet with?
2. Which is a subject question?
1. Who are you calling?
→ Who called you?
<ol><li>Choose the correct negative auxiliary question:</li></ol>
Doesn't he like coffee?
2. He doesn't like coffee?
4. Which is an indirect question?
1. Where is the library?
— Could you tell me where the library is?
5. Which sentence is a question with a negative auxiliary verb?
Isn't she your teacher?
2. She isn't your teacher?
6. Which is a correct subject question?
1. What does happen?
—
7. Which question ends with a preposition?
— What are you looking for?
2. What are you looking?
Sentence Transformation (16-20)
1. Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:</li> <li>You are talking to whom?</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:</li> <li>You are talking to whom?</li> </ol>
1. Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition: You are talking to whom?  → Who are you talking to?
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?</li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?</li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?</li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?</li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → who are you talking to?</li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → who left the door open?</li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → who left the door open?</li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → who are you talking to?</li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → who left the door open?</li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → who left the door open?</li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.         → Aren't you comming with us?     </li> <li>Rewrite as an indirect question:         What time does the meeting start?     </li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.         → Aren't you comming with us?     </li> <li>Rewrite as an indirect question:         What time does the meeting start?     </li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.         → Aren't you comming with us?     </li> <li>Rewrite as an indirect question:         What time does the meeting start?         → Learner what time the meeting starts?     </li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.         → Aren't you comming with us?     </li> <li>Rewrite as an indirect question:         What time does the meeting start?         → L wander what time the meeting starts?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.         → Aren't you comming with us?     </li> <li>Rewrite as an indirect question:         What time does the meeting start?         → L warder what time the meeting starts?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         Which friend are you waiting for?</li> </ol>
<ol> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:         You are talking to whom?         → Who are you talking to?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a subject question:         Someone left the door open.         → Who left the door open?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question with a negative auxiliary verb:         You want to come with us.         → Aren't you comming with us?     </li> <li>Rewrite as an indirect question:         What time does the meeting start?         → L wander what time the meeting starts?     </li> <li>Rewrite as a question ending with a preposition:</li> </ol>

Good luck! Review your notes if you need help.