

COMMON WORKSHEET

GRAMMAR

ERRORS

In each sentence below, one of the underlined portions contains an error. Fix each sentence using your knowledge of subjects, verbs, and pronouns.

SUBJECT-VERB AGREEMENT

1. The best dish on the menu is Tiramisu, a dessert comprised mainly of mascarpone cheese and ladyfingers, that translate from Italian as “pick me up.”
2. Thousands of scrolls and fragments of ancient manuscripts has been found in caves on the shore of the Dead Sea, including early copies of biblical books in Hebrew and Aramaic.
3. Although it had its beginnings in Buddhism, mindful meditation is practiced around the world by people of many religions, and are shown to be effective for not only stress reduction, but for healing purposes as well.

PRONOUN AGREEMENT

4. To make cucumber salad, you will need to slice a peeled cucumber as finely as you can, and then macerate them in sugar, vinegar, salt, and chopped dill.
5. “Eat, drink, and be merry,” is a label associated with Greek philosopher Epicurus, but like most catchy slogans, they simplify what is actually a rich and complex message.
6. The physical and psychological unrest of the working class was explored often in the plays of Arthur Miller, for who the subject of the American Dream, and its achievability for ordinary Americans, never got stale.
7. If one is looking to buy a used car, you should check the classified section of the local paper, where many sellers advertise.

8. Many birdwatchers, or birders as they prefer to be called, keep journals called life lists, in which they formally note birds they have seen and identified, typically beginning with the feathered creatures observed in one's own backyard.